We know people are stretched.

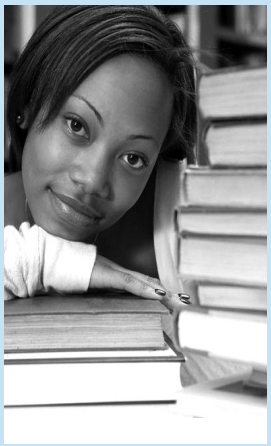
But, when we come together as a community we're strong.

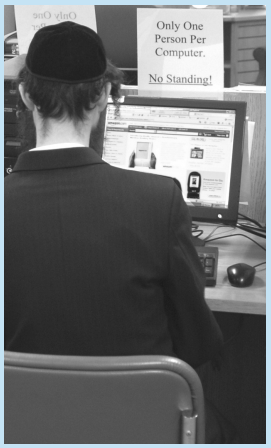
For just an additional $15.68 a year*, Finkelstein will be able to restore the cuts made last year and improve our services.

That's why it's so important for you to vote yes on the Library's 2009-10 budget.

Voting YES means:

- restoring summer weekend hours
- raising the check out limit
- increasing computer access
- restoring seven-day bestseller lending
- maintaining full security coverage
- meeting contractual salary increases
- avoiding new sanctions at other area libraries against Finkelstein cardholders.





Voting NO means:

- cutting weekend and holiday hours even further
- cutting the check-out limit to less than the present 12 item limit
- cutting full and part-time staff
- cutting computer access
- cutting popular adult and children's programs
- cutting book and electronic material purchases, and
- cutting over a half million dollars in programs and services.

Vote Yes so we can make sure Finkelstein can provide the programs and services we need during this tough time.
